Derrida’s Unpublished Politics of Friendship and the Ethics of Deconstruction: A Challenge

Nicole Sütterlin
Harvard University

Wednesday, Nov. 2, 2016
12-1pm
Humanities Gateway 1010

Can Jacques Derrida’s unpublished seminars challenge existing notions of deconstruction? Nicole Sütterlin proposes to reevaluate Derrida’s ethics of the other by inquiring into his reading of the German Romantic philosopher-poet Novalis in two unpublished seminars on the Politics of Friendship held at UCI’s Special Collections and Archives.

Nicole Sütterlin is Assistant Professor of Germanic Languages and Literatures at Harvard University. She is currently also a Research Associate at UCI’s Department of Comparative Literature.