

UCIrvine

THE PROGRAM IN AFRICAN AMERICAN STUDIES PRESENTS:

The Long Emancipation: Anti-Blackness, Settlement and the Problem of Nation

with Rinaldo Walcott

Date: April 9th, 2015

Time: 3:30- 5:30pm

Location: HG 3200

Free and open to the public.

Light refreshments will be provided.

Rinaldo Walcott is an Associate Professor and Director of the Women and Gender Studies Institute at the University of Toronto, and a Research Fellow at the Broadbent Institute in Ottawa. He is the author of Black Like Who: Writing Black Canada (Insomniac Press 1997, second revised edition 2003) and the editor of Rude: Contemporary Black Canadian Cultural Criticism (Insomniac, 2000). As well, Professor Walcott is the co-editor, with Roy Moodley, of Counseling Across and Beyond Cultures: Exploring the Work of Clemment Vontress in Clinical Practice (University of Toronto Press, 2010). His next book, Black Diaspora Faggotry: Frames Readings Limits, is forthcoming from Duke University Press. His research is centered in Black diaspora politics, gender and sexuality, and decolonial politics.