

UCI Center for Medical Humanities

UCI Center for Medical Humanities Launch

Date and Time: October 30th, 2018 | 5:30-7:30 p.m.

Location: Humanities Gateway (HG) 1030

Event Details:

You are cordially invited to join us for the official launch of the UCI Center for Medical Humanities, an unprecedented partnership between the Claire Trevor School of Arts, School of Humanities, and School of Medicine. Director Doug Haynes will announce the launch of the Center and preview upcoming programs and events. Brief remarks by Dean Stephen Barker (CTSA), Dean Tyrus Miller (SOH), and Dean Michael J. Stamos (SOM) will also be featured.

The 200th anniversary of Mary Shelley's Frankenstein will provide the backdrop for this unique event. Richard Brestoff (UCI Drama) will perform a dramatic reading of selections from Shelley's novel and Jayne Lewis (UCI English) will provide insights into the novel and its relationship to the Medical Humanities in the 21st century.

Light refreshments will be served.

This event is free and open to the public, but registration is encouraged. Click here to RSVP

Parking: Please park in the Mesa Parking Structure (see grid 7 on the campus map) Parking is $2/hour and $10/day.

Formerly the UCI Medical Humanities Initiative, the UCI Center for Medical Humanities serves as a vibrant space for exploring the meanings of health, healing, and well-being. Above all, this vision of the medical humanities fortifies a model of health care that is organized around the individual, reflective of cultural identities, and responsive to the needs of community.
