

California Classical Association
Southern Section

Reception of Classics: Robots, Rap, Prisons, and Socrates

CCA SOUTH FALL MEETING

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA IRVINE

NOVEMBER 2, 2019

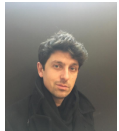

9:00am – 1:30pm Light breakfast and lunch provided.

Our deep appreciation to our hosts

Andromache Karanika and the UCI Department of Classics

Armand D'Angour, Department of Classics, Oxford. He will be presenting in video conference “Does Socrates the man help us understand Socrates the philosopher?” including topics arising from his latest book, Socrates in Love: The Making of a Philosopher.

Andy West, The Philosophy Foundation, London. He will be sharing from his recent experiences “What I learned about the Classics, teaching philosophy in prisons.”

Adrienne Mayor, Department of Classics, Stanford University. She will be speaking on topics from her recent book Gods and Robots: Myths, Machines, and Ancient Dreams of Technology.

Brandon Bourgeois, Department of Classics, University of Southern California. He will speak about and perform work from his innovative “Hype4Homer Project,” which translates ancient Greek poetry into hip hop performance pieces.

Mentoring: A time to briefly share ideas

Olga Faccani, a University of California Santa Barbara graduate student in Classics, will speak about her experience with The Odyssey Project, which engages with youth at the Ventura Youth Facility.

If you would also like 5 minutes to share information about a classroom project or activity you have done which relates to topics within our theme, please send a brief description to this entire email string:*
deguzmanb@pvpusd.net; katie.robinson2@cox.net; paul.mcdermott@csun.edu

CCA South welcomes a broad range of scholarly perspectives pertaining to the origin, the significance, and the reception of Latin, Greek, and Greco-Roman civilization in various genres and in material culture. We also seek to share various methods of engaging students at all levels in active learning and reflective activities.

Register soon at ccasouth.org to reserve your space! Click Fall 2019 Meeting.

Payment portals for both event registration and CCA membership are open on the CCA South website.

Parking and meeting room location will be posted online and emailed to registrants before the event.