

ETA SIGMA PHI'S SPRING UNDERGRADUATE COLLOQUIUM SCREENING THE ROMAN FEMALE GAZE OF DESIRE

MONDAY, MAY 6TH, 2019
UCI HG 1030
3:00 PM - 4:00 PM
RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

ABOUT THE TALK

Hollywood has long deployed representations of ancient Rome as a commentary on contemporary sexual and social values. This talk will analyze Hollywood depictions of elite Roman females as aggressive voyeurs, exploring the ways in which they illuminate and comment on the changing sexual and social roles of modern women.

ABOUT THE SPEAKER

Dr. Monica Cyrino is the author of numerous books and articles on Classics and popular culture, including Big Screen Rome (Blackwell 2005) and Aphrodite (Routledge 2010). She has appeared on The History Channel and served as a consultant on recent film and television productions. She is a Professor of Classics at the University of New Mexico.

PRESENTED BY THE
DELTA SIGMA CHAPTER
OF ETA SIGMA PHI AND
THE UCI DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICS

UCI Classics