

UCI GENDER AND SEXUALITY STUDIES PRESENTS: A BROWN BAG PRESENTATION

Gender as Conspiracy: Epistemic Insecurity and the Work of Doubt in Anti-Gender Organizing in Mexico

A Talk With Annie Wilkinson

Annie Wilkinson is a PhD Candidate in Anthropology at UC Irvine and a Women's Studies and Charlotte W. Newcombe Fellow of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation (soon to be renamed!). She holds a Master degree in Social Sciences with an emphasis in Gender and Development from FLACSO-Ecuador, and is the author of a book on transnational ex-gay movements and conversion therapies in Ecuador. Her research interests include gender and sexual politics, right-wing populism, and transnational social movements in Latin America. Her current research project, which examines the nexus of in/security and anti-gender and anti-feminist movements in Mexico, has been supported by the National Science Foundation, the US Fulbright Commission, and the Wenner Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research.

WEDNESDAY, FEBURARY 3RD • 12:00PM

RSVP to: <https://bit.ly/WilkinsonTalk>