

THE UCI DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY PRESENTS: THE THIRD ANNUAL
KEITH L. NELSON LECTURE IN U.S. INTERNATIONAL HISTORY

FEATURING:

FREDRIK LOGEVALL

Laurence D. Belfer Professor of International Affairs
Harvard University

APRIL 13, 2017
5:00 PM
HG 1030

A light reception will precede the event at 4:00pm

DO LEADERS MAKE HISTORY?
REFLECTIONS ON THE AMERICAN PRESIDENCY

Fredrik Logevall holds joint appointments in the Kennedy School of Government and the Department of History at Harvard.

He is the author or editor of nine books, including the Pulitzer Prize-winning Embers of War: The Fall of an Empire and The Making of America's Vietnam, and Choosing War: The Lost Chance for Peace and the Escalation of War in Vietnam, as well as essays and reviews published in The New York Times, Washington Post, and other journals. He is the immediate past president of the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations (SHAFR).

The Keith L. Nelson Lecture in International History is made possible by the allocation of funds from the Edward A. Dickson professorship awarded to Keith L. Nelson, Professor Emeritus in the Department of History at UCI. He was a founding member of the History Department in 1965 and served the campus, Humanities, and History in numerous ways. His publications include The Impact of War on American Life; Victors Divided: America and the Allies In Germany, 1918-1923; The Making of Détente: Soviet-American Relations in the Shadow of Vietnam; and Why War? Ideology, Theory, and History (with Spencer Olin).

SPONSORED BY: