

LEGAL PHILOSOPHY TALK:

KEN SIMONS

Date and Time: November 29, 2018 |

5:00 PM-6:30 PM

Event Location: Law 3500

Please join us on Thursday, November 29th, at 5 pm for the next meeting of Law, Reason and Value, the new colloquium in jurisprudence co-sponsored by the School of Humanities and the School of Law.

Our speaker will be Ken Simons, Chancellor's Professor of Law and Professor of Philosophy at UC Irvine, who will discuss "The Justifiable Scope of Hate (or Bias) Crime Laws," (please see paper attached).

The talk will run from 5-6:30 pm in Law 3500. There will also be a faculty dinner following the discussion; if interested please email jhelmrei@uci.edu and please register here: <https://www.law.uci.edu/centers/clp/speaker-series.html>
